DEMING AND MIMBRES VALLEY

DEMING HOLDS GREAT CELEBRATION WHEN STATEHOOD NEWS IS RECEIVED—FAST BALL GAME WITH SANTA RITA

Deming, N. M., Aug. 22.—The news that New Mexico had been made a state was flashed to Deming Monday afternoon in a special telegram from the El Paso Herald, and the people of the town were soon wildly celebrating. However, they had already done much celebrating on the occasion of the passage of the bill by the house on Saturday last. The celebration culminated Saturday evening into speech making, bonfires, band playing and other evidences of popular approval and joy over the fulfillment of a hope long deferred. At nightfall the Deming band was playing popular and patriotic airs, bonfires were blazing and a platform was improvised for the speakers.

Ralph C. Ely was the first to address the large audience. Mr. Ely began with a sincere felicitation over the happy outcome of the statehood resolution in the congress of the United States.

In the course of his remarks Mr. Ely said: "Tonight we are celebrating the birth of the new state; but we are celebrating more than that for we, ourselves, have no adequate conception of what the future may hold in store for New Mexico and Arizona in the lines of their development. Westward the star of empire has taken its way since long before the annals of history were made up. Wherever the garden of Eden may have been, in forgotten spot in the center of Asia, it is true that the families constituting the beginning of the Arayan race multiplied there until the slender resources of their communities supplemented by their poor endeavor at cultivation and self support, were inadequate; and the more enterprising of their race moved westward in successive invasions, some drifting into Egypt, others into Asia Minor and still other hordes invading Europe. The invasions of Rome and of the forests of Germany, the coming of the German tribes to England and later, the invasion of William the Conqueror, all were but the manifestations of this restless movement of our forefathers seeking land. Finally, the time came when Europe was too small and that same spirit of adventure, that same boundless ambition, that same insatiable hope, impelled them to brave the dangers of the great sea until finally they settled in scattered colonies along our western shores.

"In attending the birth of this new state we can hardly realize how big with possibilities for the good of humankind our community may be. It is in such an hour as this that we must resolve to put aside petty things and, regardless of vocations and of our affiliations, join shoulder to shoulder with our neighbors and friends in the upbuilding of a community where essentials are first considered which tend to give our people the best."

Major Waddill Speaks.
Major J. R. Waddill was then introduced, and he spoke in part as follows: "From the pioneer days back in the '80s to the present, the people of New Mexico have been struggling and petitioning and using every power and influence at their command to be admitted to the sisterhood of states of the union. Now these long weary years of disappointed effort are crowned with triumph and with deep joy. We are citizens of the state of New Mexico."

"From now henceforward and forever, we will govern ourselves. From this day forward, we can no longer charge the ills of government, the vicissitudes of laws and the inefficiency of administration to any other power or influence than our own. There falls upon every man and citizen of our new state from this hour hence, the solemn and high duties of citizenship and the responsibilities of government. Whatever laws shall be passed, whatever officials shall be chosen to administer the laws, these and all the machinery of government and administration will lie upon our own shoulders.

"The duty comes to us to choose well our officials. To say who shall be our public servants; to consider well the qualification of every man—morally first, second, from the standpoint of ability and experience—whom we may elect to places of public trust. We must have good men in all the offices within our gift. We must strive for cleanliness and righteousness in our government. We must have good and wholesome laws and intelligent administration."

Visitor Is Heard.
Judge W. Haire, of Houghton, Mich., who happened to be in Deming for a few days, was next introduced.

Judge Haire congratulated New Mexico upon statehood, and the community of Deming upon its progressiveness and prosperity.

W. E. Holt then read a telegram from William Alden Smith announcing the fact that the president had agreed to sign the statehood resolution as passed.

Monday afternoon at 2 o'clock the Herald correspondent at Deming received a message from The Herald stating that the president had signed the bill. The rejoicing was renewed.

Deming vs. Santa Rita.
The largest crowd of the season witnessed the best game of the season at the baseball park in Deming Sunday afternoon. It was a clean, hard, evenly matched game from the first to the tenth inning, when Forsythe's two-bagger brought in O'Boyle from second base, scoring the only run of the game.

Bixler pitched a splendid game for Deming, having nine strikeouts to his credit, and the scoring hit was the only hit which Santa Rita made. Not a hit was made off Nolan, Santa Rita's pitcher, and his strikeouts numbered five. Carter and Allen did the catching for Deming and Santa Rita respectively.

A special train brought several hundred baseball enthusiasts down from Santa Rita and Silver City.

Thrashing Begins.
There are two bean threshers now in the Mimbres valley ready to take care of the large crop of California pink beans. H. B. Strickler will operate one of these threshers in the Honale neighborhood, and E. E. Lawrence will operate one in the vicinity of Deming.

A Big Sunflower.
Uncle Tom Hudson brought into the chamber of commerce Monday a mammoth sunflower head, measuring 45 inches in circumference. A close estimate reveals the fact that this head contains some 2300 seeds. Sunflowers are grown extensively by farmers in the Mimbres valley for chicken feed. This particular head weighs with eight inches of the stalk, 7 1/2 pounds.

Building Wagon Road.
G. M. Sadler is building a fine road into Deming from the Pleas Russell ranch seven miles east of town. Mr. Sadler is a large land holder and is building the road on his own account, but at the same time is doing a great service to the community. He has had large experience in road building in this section, having constructed a road last year from his flour-spar mines in the Cook's range to Mirage Station, also doing considerable work on the road leading from the mines to Deming. He says that the graded road in this valley is not so good as the road which is scraped and cut down to the hardpan. This is the method he is using in building the road from the Russell ranch into Deming. He reverses the action of his big grader, causing it to throw the dirt out to one side, and continues the operation until the hardpan is reached. If there is much drainage running the way of the road, the road must be protected from this water by ditching on both sides. The objection to the graded road, according to Mr. Sadler, lies in the fact that it cuts into ruts and chug holes, whereas, if an excavation is made to the hardpan, a much firmer and impervious road can be had.

The new road the south will be begun shortly. The money for this road is contributed mostly by subscription, partly by the county and partly by the territory. Forty-five hundred dollars has been raised from these sources, and engineer Frank O'Brien will have charge of the construction work. The old grade will be used as a foundation for a distance of four miles south, and from thence 12 miles it will follow section lines. This will tap one of the most thickly settled portions of the county, and is a much needed improvement.

Another Pumping Plant.
H. G. Bush, manager of the Deming Lumber company, has let a contract to S. J. Smith for a large irrigation well and pumping plant on Mr. Bush's land 15 miles south of Deming. The well and plant will be much the same character as that of sheriff Stephens, which is located in the same neighborhood. The Stephens plant delivers about 400 gallons of water per minute and is taking care of a large acreage this year.

A. G. Harrison pumped his well near Iola for the first time Friday. The plant consists of a 24 horsepower gasoline engine and a No. 4 pump. It delivered the full capacity of the pump from the start, and Mr. Harrison has now set to work to get his land which adjoins the Iola townsite into cultivation.
